GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES

Complaints should immediately be presented verbally to your immediate supervisor. You should personally submit the complaint, but may bring a co-worker, or advocate/interpreter to appear with you if assistance is needed with communication.

To ensure prompt attention, complaints must be submitted in writing within one (1) working day after the event prompting the complaint. The immediate supervisor should make every effort to resolve the issue at the initial stage.

If the complaint cannot be settled by your supervisor, contact your Employment Specialist (ES) or Human Resources (HR). The ES or HR should within one (1) working day or the following working day if on Friday or a holiday, indicate in writing steps to be taken to resolve the problem. If not resolved, all documentation will be submitted directly to the department director. The department director will review all data submitted and issue a determination within two (2) working days.

If you are not satisfied with the decision of the department director, an appointment must be scheduled with the Chief Executive Officer or their designee within two (2) working days. A written appeal must be submitted to the Chief Executive Officer or their designee at the time the appointment is made. A final decision will be made by the Chief Executive Officer or their designee within two (2) working days, unless extenuating circumstances prevent all relevant information from being collected in the two-day time frame. The Chief Executive Officer's or their designee's determination is the final appeal within Goodwill.

Any formal complaint, grievance, or appeal that is not resolved satisfactorily within Goodwill may be directed to the original referring agency or other agency of choice.

The grievance policy also covers individuals who work at non-Goodwill sites. In some instances incidents that occur may result in suspension pending investigation. If facts substantiate allegations (e.g., entering restricted areas, theft, or other major violations) termination will occur with no right of appeal within Goodwill.

I have received this policy and understand that it is my responsibility to read or have this policy read to me. It is also my responsibility to make sure that I understand this policy.
